'Calendar Girls' kick-off party is today in BSL

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

Some local ladies are grinning and baring it for a new pin-up calendar to raise both funds and awareness for the Friends of the Animal Shelter in Hancock County — and you have a chance to meet them.

The group will debut the calendar — which will be called "Coastal Treasures" — at a kick-off party at the Bay City Grill from 4-7 p.m. today, Sunday, Nov. 14. The calendar models, ranging in age from their 30s to their 60s, will be on hand to autograph their pictorials.

The calendar was the brain child of Friends' President Carol Strohmertz, who was inspired by a group of ladies in England who raised more than a million dollars for leukemia research. Their story also inspired the recent film Calendar Girls.

As in the inspirational "Calendar Girls" calendar, all the important parts are covered, thanks to the skill and care of local photographers who donated their time, resources and talents to the project, including Billy Dugger, Ken Murphy, Sandra Russell Clark, Alexander Brown, Mark Buszkiewicz, James deBuys, and Matt Molinary.

"We felt we needed a gimmick to get people's attention," Strohmertz said recently. When 80 percent of the animals being brought to the (Waveland Animal Shelter) are being killed, we felt it was necessary to do something to get people's attention to this horrendous problem. You just can't throw animals away like they're a piece of trash. Out-of-sight out of mind is not good enough. ... Besides the numbers being out of control, pets live longer when they are spayed and neutered."

In addition to the spay and neuter programs, the Friends of the Animal Shelter are working toward the day when there is a no-kill shelter for animals in Hancock County.

The calendar kick-off party is open to the public. Bay City Grill is located at 136 Blaize Ave. in Bay St. Louis.

Copies of the calendars will be available for sale, and some of the photographs not used in the calendars will also be on display.

Wastewater treatment hearing set

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Several wastewater treatment projects, either underway or proposed, will be the subject of discussion at a public hearing scheduled for November 19 at 6 p.m. at the Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Dr. A copy of the updated facilities plan that outlines these proposals is available for public inspection at the Southern Regional Management District plant site at 401 Gulfside St. in Waveland.

The plan addresses the wastewater treatment needs of the county through 2020 when the U.S. Census Bureau estimates the population of the county will be between 60,000 and 79,000, depending on the rate of growth. Current population is about 45,000. Population estimates for 2020 of about 67,000 were used for the purposes in the facility plan, whose main study area includes the Southern and Central parts of the county and covers about 352 square miles. By 2020 it is estimated that the county will require a treatment capacity of about 8 million gallons per day (MGD).

Main projects included in the plan are:

- A Western Regional

Wastewater Treatment Facility which is proposed to be located along Hwy. 90 on about 20 acres of land located near the old truck scales. The property is currently being obtained by eminent domain with the issue scheduled to go to court in December. Plans for a temporary, 200,000 gallon per day facility, which will treat the first two phases of wastewater customers in the Pearlington project area are complete and waiting for the land acquisition for construction to begin. Discharge from this plant is slated to be into Whites Bayou. The plant is scheduled to be up and running in June 2005.

Plans are completed for a three phase collection system in Pearlington and acquisition of rights of way for all three phases of the project are underway.

A permanent Western Plant facility, which will treat 1.5 million gallons per day will include a conversion of the small plant. Project cost is estimated at $7,431,349. The larger facility will treat wastewater from Pearlington, Ansley, Bayou Caddy Hotel, and RV park, and an estimated 1,000 new residences. Port Bienville may be included in the treatment area. Discharge from this plant is slated to be overland into wetlands or large forested areas, taking the place of the Whites Bayou point. Construction is scheduled to be completed in July 2006.

• Modifications are currently underway at the Waveland plant, which is now operating at or near full treatment capacity. Two new digesters will add about 800,000 gallons of treatment capacity to the plant. Later plans call for older parts of the plant to be replaced with two new oxidation ditches with new clarifiers and conversion of some old structures for use as flow equalization tanks that will bring total plant capacity to 5 million gallons per day, however the plan recommends limiting treatment capacity on a regular basis to 4.3 MGD. The plan also calls for a review of needs in 2008, with possible modifications to the proposed upgrades that are scheduled to be completed in 2010. Some earlier studies called for the plant to be upgraded to a 6 MGD capacity. Estimated costs for modifications are $6,775,265.

Discharge from the plant is currently into Edward's Bayou at a point near Washington Ave. Construction of a new effluent pumping project that will take the treated wastewater out of Edward's Bayou to an overland discharge point is slated to be completed in May, 2006. Estimated costs associated with the uplands discharge system are $5,761,504.

• A Northern Regional Wastewater Treatment Facility is proposed for the Kiln area. Project cost is estimated at $7,499,066. No firm location has been chosen for the plant but proposals are for an area in the Buffer Zone southwest of Kiln. Designs call for the plant to have a treatment capacity of 1.5 MGD and treat wastewater from Kiln, Stennis International Airport, Jourdan River Shores, Hancock county High School, and other nearby areas, including a portion of the areas now serviced by Hancock County Water and Sewer District that now goes to the Waveland plant.

Discharge from this plant is slated to be sent an overland discharge point. Funding sources for collection systems in the Kiln area are not currently finalized.

Potential environmental impacts and alternatives will be discussed. For more information call the plant at 467-3702.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

We Remember!

Things were sure looking bad Thursday and Thursday night, as far as the weather. It looked like it was never going to stop raining.

It was great to awaken on Veterans Day and see sunshine breaking past dawn.

Then see the threat of rain disappear as the 500 plus in attendance at the dedication.

The turnout was great for the Veterans Day parade honoring World War II Veterans from Hancock County and dedication of the World War II Monument.

It was good, too, to see a number of former residents return to Bay St. Louis for the dedication too.

Leo Seal, Jr., (who funded the project), chairman of the World War II Commission and its members all need to be commended on their great accomplishment.

Of the 1500 names of World War II Veterans who called Hancock County home, there are hundreds and hundreds of them I have known throughout my life. It is just too bad they could not have been here to witness Hancock County's Veterans Day 2004 celebrations.

On Thursday, November 18, 6 p.m. in the Hancock County Board of Supervisors room, a special dedication is to take place.

A portion of Highway 43, in Hancock County will be dedicated in the name of Alton A. (Dolph) Kellar Memorial Highway.

The late Mr. Kellar served one term as a Hancock County School Board member, prior to serving six consecutive terms as a Board of Supervisor, from 1964 to 1968 and then elected to another term in 1992.

Mr. Kellar, whom I had known for many years, also served on many area and state commissions during his political career.

His place of residence was located on Highway 43, west, following the NASA move to the county.

Transportation Commissioner Wayne Brown and The Mississippi Department of Transportation invites a; to attend the dedication Thursday evening.

This is a reminder for all folks to remember the Hancock County Cleanup set for Saturday, November 20.

Hopefully we will have a large turnout, especially for our beachfront.

We will give you more information in Thursday's edition of The Echo.

I wonder if I am the only one who notices how fast gas prices go up when there is an increase in crude oil prices.

Then when crude oil prices come down, gas prices take some time to come down.

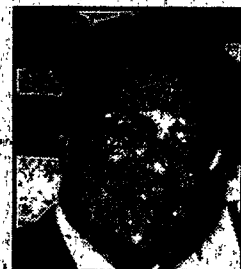

I guess it has something to do with supply and demand, but in reality it seems prices should react the same way for each change.

The Senate's tasks begin anew

When the Senate begins its new session in January, the American people should expect more. As a result of the election, no longer is the partisan split in the Senate almost right down the middle.

Instead, given the clear victory by President Bush, members of both parties have a responsibility to take up the people's work and take on the pressing tasks before us. The Terror: Our policy of going after terrorists on their turf before they can attack ours is sound. Since the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks, America's military men and women and our homeland security agents have kept America secure while severely disrupting or destroying terrorists and their murderous plans. We've got to keep up the pressure by making sure elections in Iraq take place unimpeded by terrorist insurgents. If President Bush asks for more money or troops for the War on Terror, the American people expect the Congress to oblige so that our troops can return home soon.

Energy Policy: I've been championing a comprehensive national energy policy for several years -- one that balances America's energy needs with our environmental responsibilities. We need to act quickly on an energy policy that provides more incentives for domestic energy production as well as incentives for research and use of alternative energy sources like fuel cells, solar and wind power. We cannot remain dependent on foreign countries like Saudi Arabia for our energy needs. If we do, our national security is at risk. We should find common ground and pass a national energy policy immediately.

Job Creation: Senators, Congressmen and Presidents cannot create private sector jobs, but we sure have the power to encourage it. In my view passing both highway construction and tax reform bills is the best way to encourage job creation.

Highways are the blood vessels of economic activity and a proven way to foster job growth. Where there are

Keeping a Promise to our veterans

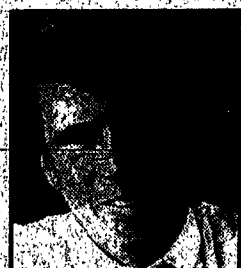

Last year on Veteran's Day I publicly challenged the University of Southern Mississippi and the Gulfport VA facility to form a partnership to help meet the health care needs of need for veteran health care will grow nationally and in South Mississippi. Through this partnership, USM is enhancing the efforts of the VA facility at Gulfport to meet that demand.

South Mississippi and the many Veterans who live here. Dr. Shelby Thames, President of USM, accepted that challenge and it has been my pleasure to work with him these twelve months to help make this idea a reality. I feel that this project is a major victory in the effort to provide adequate, quality health care that was promised to our veterans.

I do not have to tell our Veterans that the VA system is strained. They already know. When I spoke on Veteran's Day last year I talked about how 66,000 veterans across the country were waiting up to six months to get appointments with VA doctors. As the veterans from past conflicts continue to age and the War on Terrorism increases the veteran population, the Health care for veterans is one of the most important responsibilities for our government. I regret to say that it has not always been treated as such, and this fact flies in the face of the most obvious reasoning. When a man or woman risks their physical, mental, and emotional well-being for their country, their country should be more than willing to care for them. Visiting wounded servicemen from Iraq at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, one is reminded of the toll war takes on a person. These men and women were there for their country, many of them will never be the same. Their country must now be there for them. The sacrifice of veterans has gained so much for America and the world. Our military helped establish this country, it preserved this country, and it has defended it with great success.

Today, in the streets of Fallujah, in the mountains of Afghanistan, and around the world, a new generation of Americans are fighting for freedom and will return to their hometowns as veterans. Many of these young men and women, just as the veterans who came before them, had never been outside their communities until they joined the service. The power of America has always resided in the ability of ordinary people from small communities and big cities across the country to rise to the occasion and accomplish extraordinary things.

Over the years, through the efforts of veterans groups and my fellow veteran advocates in Congress, we have made progress in providing proper benefits for service members and veterans. This year, the Fiscal Year 2005 Defense Authorization bill expanded the military's TRICARE health care system to include National Guard and Reserves. The Social Security offset under the Survivor Benefit Plan was eliminated by increasing the annuities paid to survivors who are 62 or older from 35% of retired pay to 40% by September of 2005 and up to 55% after March 2008. Also, full concurrent receipt was authorized to military retirees with service-connected disabilities rated as 100 % beginning January 1, 2005. All of this progress is merely an attempt to fulfill a promise; a promise that my government made, and I intend to work to keep.

Taylor -- Veterans

The partnership between USM and the Gulfport VA is another way we are keeping that promise. I am excited to say that as of November 1st the two entities formed and operate the Gulf Coast Research Consortium (GCRC) located at the Gulfport VA facility. This Consortium is the culmination of what was only an idea one year ago. In South Mississippi, showing our appreciation to veterans is a motivating factor. Through this project we have provided a way to continue health care administration and research for veterans while expanding the opportunities for students and researchers at USM.

The GCRC will combine the resources of the university and the VA facility for advancement in areas of research and practice that will benefit health care in South Mississippi. USM is moving. Human Performance teams to the GCRC offices to begin research in rehabilitation for veterans. Nursing program research and training will be conducted out of the Consortium. The GCRC will study addictive behavior and post-traumatic stress disorder; these afflictions are all too often the second enemy our veterans must overcome after facing the horrors of war. Additionally, a Family Support center for military families facing poverty will be established. These families who are already struggling financially face great hardship when a family member is deployed, then disabled, or worse, lost in war.

This support center will help these families find solutions.

In the year to come the Gulf Coast Research Consortium will have more research projects, nursing students will double in the program, and the Family Support Center will go from planning to implementation. South Mississippi is honored to be home to so many Veterans, just as we are proud of our military facilities and the local industries that help keep our nation strong. The debt we owe to our veterans can never truly be repaid, but I feel by working to provide the proper care we can at least show how much we appreciate their sacrifice.

Through the history veterans created, they changed the course of this nation and the world. The experiences of the veterans, and the war on terrorism that we are fighting today, only show that the world does not entitle any one nation to anything. The United States is the greatest superpower in the world. No other nation has had the economic and cultural influence of the United States. But, this status was not given to us. As any veteran can tell you, we had to fight for it. And we still do. Understanding that, is an important part of understanding where we are today.

On this day there is a tremendous cause for celebration. There are speakers, parades, and marching bands - all because this is a day for the Veterans to sit back and let us show them how grateful we are. But there is something more that we can do. Today, between the speeches, parades, and the marching bands, or in the days after this celebration, take a little time out to listen. Listen to your father or grandfather or neighbor who has fought for their country. Listen to that person, as I often do, because that person has placed America in a position of greatness unrivaled by any other nation in history; and also, that person has helped make the world a better place.

This day is for you, old soldiers. Our memory of you will never die, and the fruit of your labors, we will not let fade away. To all those people who gave so much for so many, I thank you, and your country thanks you. As we honor those who have fought, we must keep in our hearts and prayers those who are currently in harm's way fighting for freedom.

good highways, companies locate and create jobs. Passage of a highway bill could be one of the best economic stimulus bills available to Congress and the President.

The President has indicated that simplifying the tax code will be one of his priorities in his second term. Making taxes lower and simpler are proven ways to encourage employers to create new jobs and to give individuals more money to spend. Americans want an easier to understand tax code, and the Senate should join the President in producing that.

Judicial Nominations: As soon as the last election ballot was counted, the questions started coming about how the extended Republican majority in the Senate would impact judicial nominations. From Judge Charles Pickering's nomination to the potential for major changes on the U.S. Supreme Court, Americans are tired of the sharp partisan divide that now characterizes judicial nominations.

In the new Congress there will be 55 Republicans, not enough to secure the 60-vote majority needed to break a filibuster and move nominations. But, this election showed that voters are impatient with the stubborn politics of stalemate. They want good judges on the bench within days or weeks, not years, of being nominated.

Most Americans believe that the President's qualified nominees deserve a straight up-or-down vote by the full Senate. So, I'm proposing that we study Senate rules as articulated by our Founding Fathers. It's my firm belief that a simple majority of 51 votes is consistent with what they believed was needed for nominations to pass the Senate. I'm hopeful that my Democratic colleagues will heed the election results which show it is clear Americans want an end to the pointless filibustering of good, qualified judicial nominees.

Of late, the Senate has garnered a deserved reputation for partisan gridlock and unproductive sessions. The American people expect more. This nation wants to defeat terrorism, find more affordable energy, create jobs and improve our judicial system. They expect Senators to tackle the tough tasks facing Americans, and they want us to live up to the Senate's long heritage of statesmanship and civility.

La Violette to tell story of naval battle

Author/retired oceanographer Paul La Violette plans a Powerpoint presentation on his latest book, Sink or be Sunk! the Naval Battle in the Mississippi Sound that preceded the Battle of New Orleans as part of the Authors & Characters @ Your Library series.

The program is Tuesday, November 16 at 7 p.m. at the Waveland Public Library.

Sink or Be Sunk is the true story from both the British and American perspectives using letters and documents from the participants to flesh out the almost forgotten action.

La Violette is well equipped to delve into history of what took place. He has been a military oceanographer for more than forty years with the US Navy and Mississippi State University. He has done his marine research in almost all of the world's oceans, spending most of his time in the Arctic Ocean, Mediterranean Sea and, more recently, the Gulf of Mexico and Mississippi Sound.

His extensive research for the book included using side-scan sonar to map the debris field of the nearly two hundred year old battle.

His past publications have been oceanographic atlases, books and papers on the circulation of the world oceans and seas.

More information on the program is available by calling Jamie Elston at 467-5282.

Christ Episcopal Women of the Church to host 56th annual Harvest Dinner

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Christ Episcopal Church will hold its 56th annual Harvest Dinner Thursday, November 18 in Virginia Hall, 912 South Beach Blvd. Church family and friends are invited to participate in this tradition which began in 1948.

For more than five decades, the Women of Christ Church have been preparing a traditional Thanksgiving dinner to raise money for their community outreach programs.

The Harvest Dinner tradition began when Charles and Mary Breath Jr. opened their home to the Women of the Church. Seven women prepared the traditional dinner.

The menu remains just about the same: turkey, ham, dressing, gravy, sweet potato casserole, creamed spinach, cranberry relish, rolls, dessert, and beverage. This year the dressing will be prepared by Terry McGinity, the owner of T-Macs Catering and Specialty Foods, 1118 Dunbar, Bay St. Louis.

The dinner will be available for take-out from 3:00

5:00 at the kitchen door. Dinner will be served inside Virginia Hall from 5:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. The tickets are $6.00. They may be obtained in advance from Women of the Church members or may be purchased at the door.

The dinner is a joint effort of the Women of Christ Church, some of whom are the next generation to participate, thus keeping up this outreach tradition. Please come and join us for a wonderful evening of good food and fellowship.

New initiatives announced to help Mississippians quit smoking

THE SEA COAST ECHO
New initiatives designed to help Mississippians and smokers across the nation give up tobacco were recently announced by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Secretary Tommy G. Thompson.

One of the initiatives is the opening of a national quitline access number (1-800-QUITNOW) that puts users in touch with programs that can help them quit smoking. The toll-free number is a single access point to the National Network of Tobacco Cessation Quitline.

Mississippi callers are automatically routed to the state quitline. The Partnership for a Healthy Mississippi Tobacco Quitline, operated by Information and Quality Healthcare (IQH), Mississippi's Medicare quality improvement organization.

"What starts as a single puff can become a death sentence for millions of Americans," said Secretary Thompson.

"Americans want to quit smoking, and they should quit smoking. These initiatives will help Americans kick the habit and save their own lives."

Another addition is the new HHS Web site www.smokefree.gov.

The Web site offers online advice and information to make quitting easier.

HMC volunteers honored for service

The season of giving had a jump start at Hancock Medical Center courtesy of the hospital's volunteer organization.

During the annual service awards banquet, organization President and Director of Volunteer Services Theresa Bourgeois presented HMC Board of Trustees President William A. Tate III and HMC Administrator Hal W. Leftwich, DBA with a check for $25,000 to the HMC Foundation.

Bourgeois said the largest single donation from the Volunteers was made possible by a banner year in the hospital gift shop. A unique collection of seasonal and decorative gifts and jewelry have made the shop popular with employees and visitors alike. The organization also hosted a one-day jewelry sale and oversees on-site vending machine sales.

Known for years as the "Auxiliary" or "Pink Ladies," the inclusion of men in the formerly all-female organization prompted a name change to the Hancock Medical Center Volunteer Organization.

The pink smocks remain for women, but gentlemen can be found manning information desks and calibrating equipment several days a week, said Bourgeois.

Last year alone, nearly 12,000 hours of volunteer service were recorded by the organization's 44 active members. She estimated savings in salaries and benefits to the hospital at approximately $182,000.

The volunteers are often a visitor's first interaction with the hospital, as information desks are manned in three areas: emergency/out-patient lobby, front lobby and surgical waiting room. Others assist with clerical duties, patient financial services, the gift shop and many other departments.

"The service you provide is invaluable," Board of Trustees President William A. Tate III told the group during the luncheon. "You give of your time, and you give from the heart."

Leftwich also commended the group for their dedication, and offered thanks on behalf of the hospital employees and medical staff. He shared plans for the hospital's major renovation and expansion, and told the group a bright future is in store for Hancock County residents who rely on the growing medical center for their health care.

A highlight of the luncheon was the distribution of awards to volunteers who reached various levels of service.

They include:

workers on top of the building under construction. The crane extended several feet up, and the operator was attempting to move the lift. It shifted and fell on its side. Four workers fell and hit the pavement in the parking lot."

Morris said that Horton was pronounced dead on the scene. Hoda died from his injuries several hours later at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Oxford.

The other injured workers are still undergoing treatment. Steven Patrick Nance was airlifted to Memphis, where his condition was determined as critical. Jim Edwards, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was taken to Baptist Memorial in Oxford for x-rays.

Nance and his crew were subcontracted to Mandal Inc., of Gulfport for the job. Jerry Cooper, vice-president of Mandal Inc., said Friday that Nance was still listed in critical condition, while Edwards remained in intensive care at Baptist Memorial as of Friday afternoon.

"We're very sorry about this accident and concerned for the individuals and families involved. Our main concern is still, of course, trying to help these families in any way, shape or form we can after this tragic accident."

A separate incident occurred earlier in the week when a construction worker suffered injuries when he fell down an elevator shaft in Bryant Hall.

Veterans

The day began with a parade escorted by the Waveland Police Department and concluded with the ceremony on the courthouse lawn. Hundreds attended the dedication ceremony. Dozens of World War II Veterans were among those in attendance. The monument was made possible by the continued efforts of the World War II Commission. Members of the Commission are Randolph C. Bourgeois, Ron Daricek, Richard Johnson, John J. Laddner, Bill Taylor, and Leo W. Seal, Jr., who served as chairman.

More than 60 million men, women, and children lost their lives in the war that began officially on September 3, 1939. American soldiers entered the war when the draft began in 1940 but the United States did not officially declare war on Japan and Germany until December of 1941. The war officially ended in Europe with the surrender of Germany in May of 1945, and in the Pacific in September of 1945 with the surrender of Japan. The war cost the country $231 billion dollars and 290,000 military troops and merchant marines. The two atomic bombs dropped on Japan cost $20 billion.

a trailer in Aloha Trailer Park in Waveland, and led to the arrest of three persons who were charged with narcotics violations, according to the report.

"The three Waveland residents arrested on Wednesday were: Michael E. Helm, 34, charged with sale of a controlled substance and paraphernalia; Judith Carver, 51, and Richard Tracey, 55, both were charged with possession of paraphernalia. Helm's bond was set at $31,000, while Carver and Tracey's were set at $1,000 each at the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility. Varnell and McNeal reported.

Their report continued, "When Agents executed the 'no knock' search warrant during a rain storm, two of the suspects were in the trailer. As agents entered the front door which was wide open, a female suspect was in a bedroom inhaling paint thinner."

Agents did recover a large amount of 'huffing' material and contraband, as well as several bags of marijuana inside the residence. The 'huffing' material included the paint thinner, Varnell and McNeal said.

Task Force Agent Jill Bennett is handling the investigation.

Hancock County Coastal Cleanup set for Saturday, November 20th

The Beautification Committee of the Hancock Chamber will host the annual Coastal Cleanup on Saturday, November 20th at more than 12 sites throughout the county from 8am-11am.

Ellis C. Cuevas, Chairman of the Chamber Committee said, "Each year, we have more than 500 people who participate in this event to help clean up the marine environment." Cuevas said the volunteer effort would not be possible without the support of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the outstanding work of the County employees.

This year the annual clean up was scheduled in September and was cancelled due to storm related activities. Local volunteers decided to reschedule the event in Hancock County for November. All residents are encouraged to take pride in Hancock County by participating in this clean-up as part of an organized group or on their own at sites near their businesses and/or residence.

Supplies for the event are provided through the Mississippi Marine Debris Task Force supported by the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources. Volunteers will begin the clean up at 8am and conclude some time after 11am. Last year, volunteers collected more than 500 bags of debris weighing more than 7,700 pounds.

Some of the most unique items were found at Ansley/Heron Bay where volunteers found an egret with a broken leg caught up by a hook on a fishing line. Volunteers immediately called WRANPS to save the bird.

Betsy Ashman of Hancock Insurance, co-chair of the event, said the clean-up will conclude with a cook-out for volunteers that starts at 11am at Washington Street and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. Each year, this is sponsored by the Office of Congressman Gene Taylor. This year, support will also be provided by the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis and Dole.

Purple Heart Aux. Chapter 771

BY ELIZABETH LAKE

Highlight of the month was the trip to Camp Shelby where the group received VIP treatment. Thirty-seven Patriots and wives auto caravanned there on November 6th.

After the self-guided Tour of the Mississippi Armed Forces Museum, the group was taken by bus to the mess hall for lunch. After lunch, they boarded a bus staffed with an Army Captain tour director, for the ride to the combat training area.

First stop was the camp that houses and trains soldiers for combat duty. The young soldiers were heavily armed with modified M-16's and other weapons. Chapter commander Henry Cook introduced the Patriots, explaining they were ordered in battle during either World War II, the Korean War, or the Viet Nam War. The wives were acknowledged as well. By coincidence, coincidence, Mary and Tom Dempsey visited with a Waveland policeman who would soon be deployed to Iraq.

Next stop was the mock Iraqi village populated with "make-believe" Iraqis, some in Arab dress. Soldiers train here for duty in Iraq.

Don't forget the Chapter 771 Purple Heart cruise departing New Orleans on January 22. Call Susie at Country Travel (504) 522-2882.

In February, a trip to the D-Day Museum is on schedule.

Last but not least, the installation ceremony for the new Unit of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Military Order of the Purple Heart (LAMOPH) will be Hall on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

For more information, call Mary Gilmore, president at 466-9382.

Woodall Advanced Tech Center opens

Pearl River's Lowery A. Woodall Advanced Technology Center opened its doors to the public this fall, giving educators and the business community access to a state-of-the-art facility committed to economic development in this region of the state.

PRCC President William Lewis will be joined by Mississippi Gov. Haley Barbour and other local officials in cutting the ribbon at 4 p.m. Tuesday (Nov. 16, 2004), to officially open the building.

Approximately 300 business, education and community leaders are invited guests. The opening of the Center represents a milestone in efforts to upgrade the skills of the South Mississippi workforce.

"The Lowery A. Woodall Advanced Technology Center represents a significant advancement in PRCC's workforce training resources and capabilities," said PRCC President William Lewis. "The Center exemplifies what good things can be accomplished when government, business and education join forces to meet the needs of our working citizens."

The ATC, located on 12 acres in the Hattiesburg-Forrest County Industrial Park, is part of the Southeast Mississippi Center for Advanced Technology Partnership established by the Mississippi Legislature.

The Woodall Advanced Technology Center is, first, a place where working people can receive training, and a place where help and resources are available to anyone wishing to improve their work skills.

Second, the Woodall Center is a symbol of Mississippi's understanding of the 21st Century workplace, where technical competence, teamwork and communication skills are essential to individual and organizational success.

Further, the Woodall Center symbolizes Mississippi's commitment to the working people of Mississippi, a commitment to provide the resources essential for their training, a commitment to achieve the goal long ago articulated by Mississippi's government and business leaders to raise the State's workforce to World-Class standards of performance.

"It should not be difficult for anyone who keeps up with the times to appreciate the value of the Woodall Center," said Ed Felsher, director of PRCC's Workforce Development Center. "As lower-wage production jobs migrate overseas, those jobs that remain in the U.S. are increasingly high-skill. The competition for these jobs is intense and there are increasingly more people competing for fewer jobs. Training becomes the key to individual competitiveness in the high-skill job market. The training programs that will be available through the Woodall Center will significantly improve Pearl River Community College's capability to produce high-skill workers."

The two-story building includes the PRCC Workforce Development Center staff offices, two computer labs, a business incubator, and equipment and facilities for a variety of training programs.

"It's flexible enough to provide whatever training is needed," said Felsher. "The Woodall Center places Pearl River College at the cutting edge of Mississippi's effort to develop a high-performance workforce capable of attracting new businesses and industries."

On Feb. 14, 2003, the ATC was officially named for Lowery A. Woodall, who passed away on March 13, 2004.

"When Dr. Lewis called me about this honor, I was flabbergasted," Woodall said at the time. "There are so many people who worked on this project."

But Woodall led the way and forged a partnership between Forrest and Jones counties on July 13, 1998, after competing bids for advanced technology funding died in the Legislature, said Gray Swoope, former president of the Area Development Partnership.

"Mr. Woodall pulled the powers that be together and said we've got to develop a strategy now for the CE99 session," Swoope said. Draft legislation was ready by November and a finished bill was filed on Jan. 5, 1999 that eventually provided $8 million in funding for centers in Forrest and Jones counties and required $1 million matches for each.

"There was one man throughout the deal that was there making it happen, Lowery A. Woodall," Swoope said.

The Mississippi Legislature set aside $4 million to build the Woodall Center, along with a $1 million match in local funds - $500,000 from the city of Hattiesburg, $400,000 from Forrest County and $100,000 from the Asbury Foundation.

A reception will immediately follow the ribbon cutting in the ATC Dining Room. The public is invited.

Boys and Girls Club members get on board "The Magic Bus"

Members of the Boys and Girls Clubs in Harrison and Hancock County are joining the thousands of children from South Mississippi who are visiting and learning from "The Magic School Bus TM Kicks Up A Storm," a traveling exhibit at the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center until December 18th.

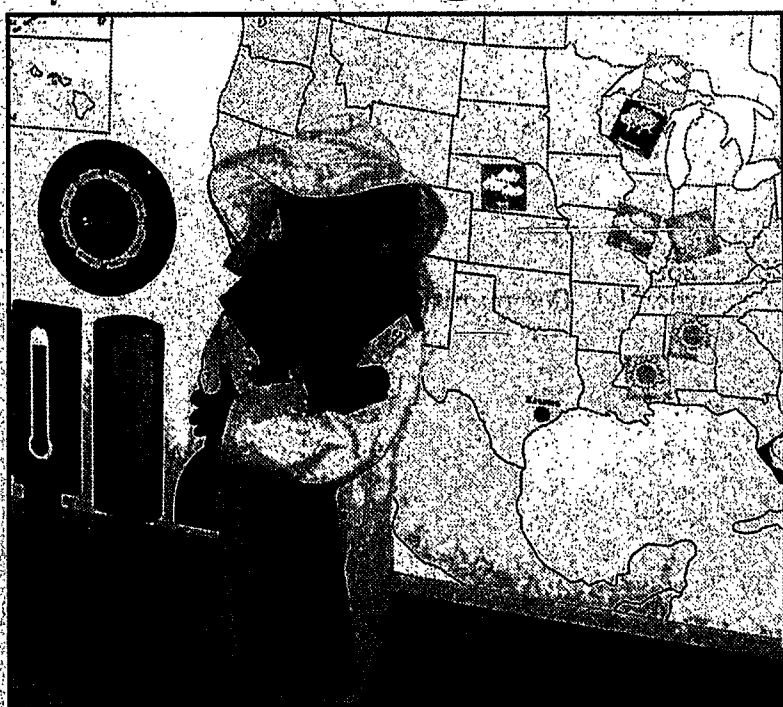

In fact, the club members have a magic bus of their own, thanks to DuPont DeLisle and the Coast Transit Authority. CTA and DuPont are providing transportation so the children can visit the Discovery Center and The Magic School Bus exhibit. To top off the visit, Domino's Pizza is providing pizzas to the visitors from the club units.

Members of the various Boys and Girls Club units in Harrison and Hancock Counties are guests at the center on Friday evenings through December 10. Free Friday Night Sponsors are Edgewater Mall, Wal Marts in Pass Christian, Waveland, Biloxi, D'Iberville, Tulane University College, MS Development Authority-Tourism Division, Kiwanis Club of Gulfport and Cable One. Admission is free to the public on Friday evenings, 5:00-8:00 PM, through December 17.

"With the generous support of DuPont, CTA, Domino's Pizza, and our Friday Night Sponsors," says Lisa Williams, Education Coordinator at the Discovery Center, "hundreds of children from Boys & Girls Club have enjoyed visiting the Discovery Center and the Magic School Bus exhibit."

"As a sponsor of the exhibit, DuPont wanted to help ensure that as many of our children in Harrison and Hancock Counties would get to see and experience the exhibit," said Pat Nichols, plant manager of DuPont DeLisle. "When the Discovery Center asked if we'd join with CTA to get more children to this extraordinary event, we knew it was a natural and outstanding request to support."

"Domino's Pizza is excited to help more and more children travel to and experience the true magic of the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center," said Glenn Mueller,

Weather Map

Pass Christian Boys and Girls Club Member Gabrielle C. stands ready to predict the weather during her visit to the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center's "Magic Bus Kicks Up A Storm" exhibit.

President and CEO of RPM Pizza, LLC, local franchisee of Domino's Pizza.

The Magic School Bus TM - Kicks Up a Storm, a 2,500 sq. ft. traveling exhibit exploring weather, allows children to "mix" their own weather, learn how to measure lightning and more. The bi-lingual exhibit, which is at the discovery center in Gulfport until December 18, is based on the best-selling Scholastic Books and the ever-popular television series on The Learning Channel. The exhibit was created by The Children's Museum of Houston and will travel to 36 cities.

Visitors can send miniature hot air balloons soaring to the ceiling or cook up some wind using convection currents. Creating unique weather tools to measure outside conditions and designing snowflakes using "ice crystals" offer visitors great learning experiences.

At the Frizzle News Station, children can broadcast current weather conditions and report data about rainfall and temperature. In the Weather Observatory, families can measure wind force with a giant wind gauge and a fun windsock. Activating a water wheel, blasting air at suspended clouds and experimenting with heat on a variety of outdoor surfaces are popular activities in Ms Frizzle's Classroom.

Southern Miss Basketball Team lands Bay High School standout

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Southern Miss Head Women's Basketball Coach Joye Lee-McNelis has announced the signing Bay High School standout, Kendra Reed of Bay St. Louis, Miss., to a national letter of intent and grant-in-aid for the 2005-06 academic year. Reed becomes the second signee of the day for McNelis.

Reed, a 5-10 forward, averaged 22.0 points, 7.2 rebounds and 3.1 steals per game as a junior for Coach Debbie Triplett. She has been a starter for Bay High since the eighth grade. She has scored 2,123 points in her career. She was selected to the 2003-04 Coaches Association All-State Team. The teams she played on posted a 118-24 record. She is a two-time Clarion Ledger Dandy Dozen selection. She was a four-time district 8A most valuable player. She was an all-south state selection as a freshman. The Wendy's High School Heisman honoree was a member of the Domino's AAU organization for the past three years.

"We are very delighted to have Kendra in our program," McNelis said. "She has tremendous versatility, great speed and quickness. I believe Kendra can be one of the best defensive stoppers in Conference USA. She takes a lot of pride in her defensive game." She is another player who can play several positions. Reed chose Southern Miss over Mississippi State, Murray State and Southeastern Louisiana. "No kid I have ever coached works as hard as Kendra does," Triplett said.

An injured athlete is every coaches worst fear. Whether you're coaching little league, high school students or this country's elite athletes, you feel responsible for making sure your athletes are safe both in practice and during competition.

But sports related injuries do occur.

That's why the American Red Cross and the United States Olympic Committee have teamed up to bring you a newly revised sports safety training specifically designed for coaches, athletic trainers and others interested in sports.

Sports safety training is designed to help eliminate potentially hazardous conditions in various sports environments, recognize emergencies and make appropriate decisions for first aid care.

The training features video, hands-on classroom instruction, and interactive group exercises with activities, plus a handy reference book to use and keep with you during competitions and practice.

The MS Gulf Coast Chapter of American Red Cross will be offering a sports safety course November 19, 2004 from 5:30-9:00 and November 20, 2004 from 9:00-5:00.

Once you complete the course you will be certified in sports injury prevention, first aid, adult and child CPR with automated external defibrillation.

The course fee is $40 which includes all of the participant materials.

SSC stopped by South Pike 29-15 in 2nd round of playoffs

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws' run in the state playoffs came to a halt on Friday as they were upended by their playoff nemesis in the South Pike Eagles 29-15. And, the hex continues. The Rocks have not beaten the Eagles in their previous meetings.

This playoff game became a game of field position starting with the first possession. It is ironic that the only two losses that the Rocks suffered in 2004 came when they did not win the coin toss.

South Pike took the field first on offense. Jordan Ellis and J.C. Brignone let the Eagles know that the game would not be an easy one early in the series. The Rocks stuffed the Eagles three plays in a row and forced a punting situation. However, SSC was flagged for roughing the punter which gave new life to the Eagles early on in the drive.

SSC held firm on defense to force a second punting situation on their opening drive. The Rocks' misplay, the punt and fumble the ball which is recovered by South Pike at the Rock eight yardline.

Sam Reed strikes first for South Pike with an 8-yard run on the next play. Darrell Putman connects on the PAT to give South Pike an early 7-0 lead.

The Rocks take over at their own 16 yardline following the kickoff. Lance Cuevas throws to Jordan Ellis out of the backfield on the first play from scrimmage. Ellis makes a beautiful one-hand catch for 13 yards and a first down. SSC is forced to punt away after three incomplete passes.

Lee Klein and Ellis hold South Pike down on two consecutive running plays. Kelsey Island's first pass of the game was intercepted by Brenne Thomas in the endzone. Thomas returned the pick to the Rock 21 yardline.

The Rocks get a first down via an Eagle punt but end up having to punt away. The Rocks give up minimal gains on plays before Island connects with Kendrick Herring for a 33-yard pickup. However, SSC forces South Pike to punt following two plays where the Eagles were stuffed for a loss by Mike Cure and Klein.

Josh Duplessis gets the call for the Rocks on three consecutive plays gaining 20, 13 and 11 yards. Cuevas goes to the airwaves on the fourth play to Stefan Sofianos for a 45-yard scoring strike with 10:46 left in the first half. The PAT missed leaving the score 7-6.

Following the ensuing kickoff, the defensive front of Brett Bentz, Caleb McQueen, J. C. Brignone and Brennan Gordon get a strong surge to stop the Eagles' running. Island is forced into a third-and-long situation and is picked off by Michael Cure who returns the ball to the Eagle 37 yardline.

Cuevas finds Brennan Thomas for a 26-yard connection and a first down. Next, he hits Floyd Dedeaux for a seven-yard gain down to the Eagle 2-yardline. Jordan Ellis bulldozes his way in for the score with 7:35 left in the half. The two-point conversion failed leaving the score 12-7.

Bryan Miller takes the ensuing kickoff at his own seven yardline and returns the ball 51 yards to the Rock 42 yardline. Sam Reed gains 7 yards before Chris Abron runs past the Rocks for a 35-yard scoring run with 7:01 left to play in the half. Cardarius Grady adds the two-point conversion to make the score 15-12.

On the next Rock drive, Cuevas has two first down passes to Cure for 12 yards and Sofianos for 23 yards before SSC punts away.

South Pike and SSC trade the next two possessions to close out the first half of play with the Eagles owning a 15-12 lead.

The Rocks come out in the second half and have to punt on their first possession. South Pike engineers a nine-play drive on their first possession of the second half. The scoring drive put some distance between the Rocks and the Eagles. Jonathan Williams and Reed rip off 15 and 12 yards, respectively, to keep the chains moving. Reed scores from 9 yards out on the ninth play of the drive with 5:47 left in the third period. Putman converted on the PAT making the score 22-12.

On the ensuing drive, Duplessis carried four times for 34 yards and Cure had a 15-yard reception. Bryce Morreale converted on a 29-yard field goal with 2:30 left on the gameclock in the third period to make the score 22-15.

On the following South Pike drive, the Rock defense held strong led by Dedeaux, Brignone, Cure and Gordon and forced the Eagles into a punting situation.

Ellis gains two yards on the ground before Cuevas hits Cure for a 4-yard pickup. Jeremy Nelson picked up a first down on a 6-yard catch for the Rocks; however, SSC was forced to punt following two incomplete passes.

Floyd Dedeaux steps in front of a deep Eagle pass and picks off the ball. He returned the pick to the Rock 23 yardline.

The two teams each traded a possession before the Rocks got the ball back. Cuevas hit Cure for gains of 11 and 8 yards followed by Dedeaux for an eight-yard pickup. SSC was intercepted on the next play by Lewis Osbey to end the drive at the Eagle 41 yardline.

Two plays later, Reed slashes his way 56 yards for the Eagle touchdown with 1:09 left to play. Putman converted on the PAT to make the score a final at 29-15.

Cuevas went back to the airwaves on SSC's final drive of the 2004 season. He hooked up with Cure for gains of 9 and 5 yards before finding Lee Klein for a final pickup of 18 yards.

South Pike head coach Randall Huffman stated, "SSC got in some bad situations especially on that first drive of the game when they gave us three opportunities. We were fortunate to capitalize on them. I am extremely impressed with St. Stanislaus all around. We knew that they were big and strong up front. These players had been together for a long time. Don't let anyone fool you, we beat a tremendous team tonight in St. Stanislaus."

The Rocks outgained the Eagles in the game racking up 314 of total offense to South Pike's 249 yards. SSC had 95 yards rushing and 219 yards passing while South Pike ran for 199 yards and threw for just 50 yards.

South Pike was led by Sam Reed who scored three times on 12 carries and 108 yards. This was the first time in the last 10 consecutive games that the Rock defense allowed over 100 yards rushing by an opponent.

Defensively, the Rocks were led by Jordan Ellis who tallied 18 total tackles followed by Lee Klein with 11 total stops.

Senior linebacker Lee Klein commented, "We have made great strides since Coach Wittmann took over the program. Since that first year, this team has become very close. We depend on each other and we believe in each other. We accomplished what we would do anything for each other. I love everyone of my teammates and would do anything for them."

He continued, "My individual successes on the are a credit to my teammates who push me to achieve. We, the seniors, leave the underclassmen a lot to strive for and to continue what we have put in place."

Offensively, Cuevas threw for 219 yards and he finished 2004 with 2,425 yards passing and 28 touchdowns. Stefan Sofianos caught two passes for 68 yards which gives him 907 yards on the season. That mark is a new single-season receiving record at SSC and breaks the previous record of 886 yards set by Gabe Willis. His 13th touchdown reception of the season also gives him 16 in his career. That ties an all-time record held by Freddie Wirtstrom in 1987 and Michael Cure in 2004.

Senior wide receiver Michael Cure commented, "When Coach Casey Wittmann came to us three years ago, our attitude and morale changed. We got started in the weight room and got hungry on the field. Success is gratifying and contagious. We leave the underclassmen one message which is to leave it all on the field. No matter what happens in any game or season, always have pride in yourself, your program and your school."

The Rocks' run at a state championship may have ended too soon; however, there is never enough words to describe the 2004 St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws. They achieved many firsts along the way to a 9-2 season. The Rocks won their first-ever division football crown. SSC was City Champions. The 2004 version of the Rocks is the most prolific offense in school history. Multiple individual and team records were shattered.

The records and the tears shed cannot make up for a loss; however, the Rocks have no reason to hang their heads. SSC has created some fond memories that will forever be a part of a tradition that is St. Stanislaus College football.

Rotary Club's chili cook-off scores a touchdown

Peoples Choice Award

Judges Award

Best Decorated Award

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department was a clear winner in the Best Decorated Booth Award contest.

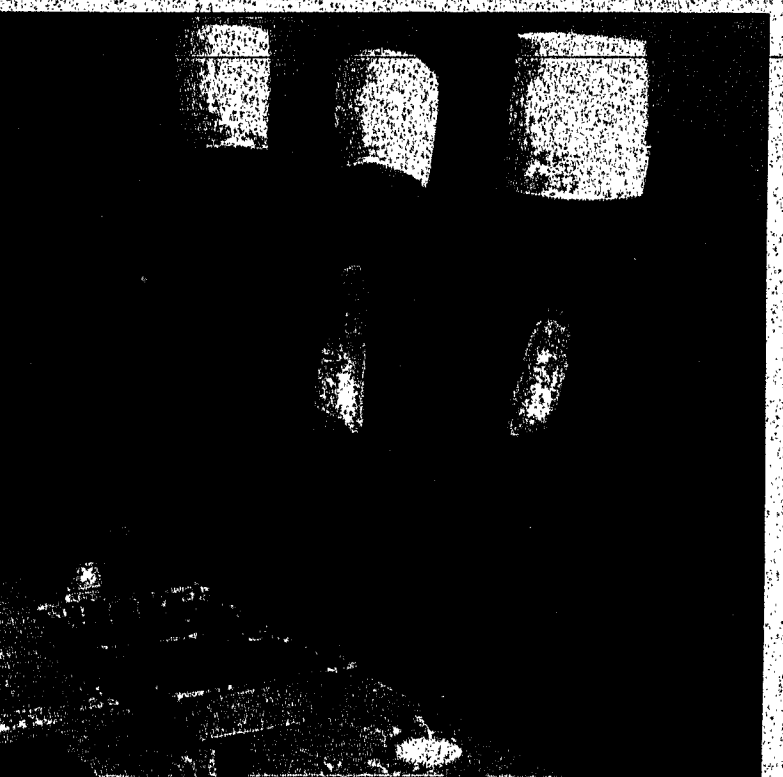

Successful event

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club's first annual chili cook-off was a big hit Friday at the Hancock County Civic Center. Hundreds of people lined up for a sample of some 20 variations of chili. There was something for every taste, from duck chili to elk chili to just plain-old chili. Proceeds from the event will be used by the organization for community projects and local charities.

Non-stop

It was non-stop action at the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club's first annual chili cook-off Friday. A larger than expected crowd caused some of the teams to run out of chili a little early. But in the finest Rotary tradition, teams with extra chili shared with those without.

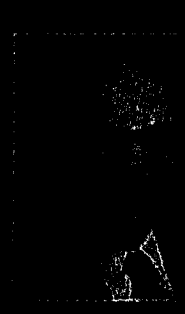

Peace

David Mayley, left, and team from Pest Control Specialist cooked almost ten gallons of chili for the Rotary Club's first annual chili cook-off Friday.

Fishes do it, birds do it

"Water! Water! Sir, do you know what fish do in water?"

—Quote attributed to W. C. Fields when asked by a waitress if he would like a glass of water with his meal.

Late last year I began noticing a woman walk by our house on a fairly regular basis. I say "walk by," but actually she would pass on the beach walk located across the county road from us, at least a hundred feet from where we sit on our front porch.

Her passing by was odd. She walked seriously, almost determinedly by, but every so often she would steal a look at our house! Then she would look quickly down and continue on for a dozen or so yards before she would do it again. Stella noticed her also and had tried waving at her when her head went up for her sneak peek, but was never quick enough, the woman's head would go down and she would continue her walk, moving aggressively on some exercise routine so rigorous that did not allow her to smile.

Then one day as we sat on the porch, Jennie stood up from where she had been sleeping behind our chairs, saw the woman passing and barked. The change in the woman was startling. She stopped, looked at the house in abject fear and hurried, almost ran down the walk, looking back as she ran.

Jennie, evidently satisfied by her one bark, returned to her position behind our chairs and went back to sleep. Stella and I turned to look at each other, we now knew what the woman had been searching for when she had looked toward our house: Jennie! Fourteen year old, sleep-24-hours-out-of-24, arthritic, I-am-your-friend-please-pet-me Jennie! And the woman's look had been one of abject fear!

I realized then that I had met a twin of the woman before. At that time I was walking on the beach walk with Jennie (on a leash) when a woman stopped in front of me and asked if Jennie bit. I said no and she informed me she was scared of dogs. I moved Jennie off the walk and the woman hurried by.

There are other people like those two women, people who for some reason, a dog bite or bad scare as a child, have a phobia relating to dogs. There is nothing wrong with that as such, beyond of course that they are being deprived of what to many of us is a wonderful relationship. But there is a reverse fear on my part about where their anxiety can lead: a curtailment created by these few of where or when the far more numerous we can walk our dogs.

I say this because of the recent signs placed up on leashing dogs and the talk of completely banning dogs from the beach. I'm not sure the exact reason for this proposed ban is being pushed. More likely there are several reasons: the fear of dogs by people such as that woman, sanitary reasons, or because of some thoughtless dog owners letting their dogs run free in a manner that interferes with other beach goers enjoyment of the beach.

Of all the problems, the sanitary reason is the one most easily answered. All that is required is that the dog owner pick up after their dog. I do it with Jennie, it's only fair. (Although unsightly, the actual sanitary problem is extremely small. Think about the lax bathroom behavior of sea gulls and fish, remember W. C. Field's great line.)

Complete leashing, I find to be a little more difficult. On the beach walk, yes, I agree, leash your dog, if no more than a courtesy to others. Along the shoreline and in the shallows water, no, I most vigorously say no.

I feel strongly about this and, I think, with good reason. I wrote once in a story about Jennie where I said:

She loves to go with me on the beach. When she was younger, she loved the exulting feeling of freedom presented by its open spaces. She would race ahead of me on the sand, moving at tremendous speed in broad, ranging circles, shedding in the broad reaches of the sand some of the excess of energy that seemingly was always cooped up within her. To watch Jennie then was to watch the essence of the joy of life.

I would not have wished to have that joy of my watching her then, nor her joy of doing what she did then stopped by the over restrictive limitations of an unneeded and for some of us harsh ordinance.

It seems to me that the operable rule here would be sensible control. All animals on the beach should be under the immediate control of a responsible owner. Not an easy concept to enforce, but actually one we have as adults been exercising on our beach for many years, one that I feel deeply should be allowed to continue.

Every so often in life we should just relax and allow laissez faire be the operative rule.

Some of my recent columns are extracts from my new Audio Book, Other Views From The Porch. I will give a reading from it at 6 p.m. tomorrow (Monday, Nov. 15) at "Bookends" in Bay St. Louis. It would be nice if you could stop by. I think you will enjoy it. This coming Tuesday, Nov. 16 at seven in the evening, I will be giving a power-point presentation on the battle of the Bay of St. Louis and my book, "Sink Or Be Sunk" at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue. Please come and go back with me to a cold winters day in 1814 when history was made just a few miles from where you live. Bring a friend! — Paul

CHARLES B. MURPHY STUDENTS EXPERIENCE MAGIC SCHOOLBUS

Students in grades K-5 at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearllington recently visited Lynn Meadows Discovery Center to experience the "Magic Schoolbus Kicks Up a Storm" traveling exhibit consisting of 2,500 square feet of interactive activities. Some of these hands-on exhibits included Ralphie's Hot Air Balloon Race, Tim's Hot Backyard, Keesha Cooks Up Some Wind, Wanda's Water Cycle, and many more. The display also boasted a weather observatory with a thunderstorm window, a weather mixing dashboard with an on-camera weather reporting assignment desk, and Mrs. Frizzle's news network radio. To prepare for the weather art and weather experiments the students conducted while at Lynn Meadows, students studied weather and completed activities in their classes at Charles B. Murphy Elementary prior to their visit. Above: Charles B. Murphy 4th graders Terry Pierson (left) and Sabrina Walters (right) experiment with the Magic Schoolbus air blaster exhibit during their recent visit to Lynn Meadows Discovery Center.

Seventh grade students who scored at the 95th percentile or higher on the Mississippi Curriculum Test in May of 2004 were found eligible for Duke recognition through the Talent Identification Program. The Talent search provides an opportunity for highly able students to pursue an above-level testing experience. Candidates are identified and then invited to complete either the SAT or the ACT. TIP then provides the participants with comparative information concerning their academic abilities and resources for unique educational opportunities. Through the sharing of information, programming, recognition ceremonies, and the special attention that is inherent in the Talent Search identification process, TIP offers supplementation of local efforts to motivate, enrich, and academically challenge some of the country's brightest young people.

The Duke University Talent Identification Program's strategic goals are to identify academically talented young people grades 4-12; to inform students about their abilities and academic options; to work with schools and families to address the unique educational needs of talented students; to sponsor innovative, challenging, and highly motivating educational programs; to conduct research on the nature of academic talent; and to provide resources for students, parents, and educators.

But to all who received Him, who believed in His name,
He gave the power to become children of God.

In dealing with our everyday activities, it is helpful and comforting to know that we are God's children and that He wants what is good for us. Relationships between children and parents are built on love and trust, and likewise, we should strive on a daily basis to improve our relationship with God. And although we may not always understand God's ways, we should know that He loves us more than we can imagine, and that He will never leave us or forsake us. Good parents can never stop loving their children, and our perfect Father in Heaven will never stop loving us.

AREA DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY PAGES

Will you donate your body to science?

"I will donate my body to science," was my conclusion a few decades ago when I first began to think seriously about the funeral expenses my survivors might incur, and also about the final useful information my mortal remains might provide for others.

Accordingly, I included this among several items in a notarized living will which I then carefully stored away for a hoped-for quite distant future reference.

But, horror of horrors, a more than sobering newspaper article of almost a year ago shocked me into a state of doubt, confusion and anger. The article focused on donation of bodies to science; cadavers, as they call them from the good old Latin word.

"New-Orleans - Seven cadavers donated to Tulane University's medical school were sold to the Army and blown up in land mine experiments," officials said Wednesday. Tulane said it has suspended dealings with a national distributor of donated bodies."

That Associated Press story goes on to say that Tulane receives up to 150 cadavers a year from donors, but needs only 40 to 45 cadavers for classes, according to May Bitner Anderson, co-director of the Tulane School of Medicine's Willing Body Program.

In fairness to Tulane University, they thought the surplus cadavers which they sold were going to medical schools in need of corpses. Instead, the university paid National Anatomical Service just under $1000 a body to deliver surplus corpses, seven of which the National Anatomical Service resold to the Army for a total of $25,000 to $30,000.

Just think about it, folks! In your business deals, how would you like to make a 100 times 24 percent markup in something you are selling?

In January 2003, Tulane discovered that the Army's Medical Research and Materiel Command in Fort Detrick, Maryland blew up the seven cadavers in tests on protective footwear against land mines at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio. Upon learning this, Tulane suspended its contract with the anatomical services company.

"There is a legitimate need for medical research, and cadavers are one of the models that help medical researchers find out valuable information," observed Chuck Dasey, a spokesman for the Army's Medical Research and Materiel Command.

"Our position is that it is a regulated process. Obviously, it makes some people uncomfortable." The problem most have with these military experiments using cadavers is not the research itself. Rather, it is the deception involved in the distributors' not informing body donors that their bodies would be used thus. My personal idea always was that medical students would some day dissect my brain, muscles and tendons for health information.

Some of us have even joked about how medical students might go about their class room experiments with great curiosity, carving up our cadavers to see what made us tick, and to see what might be unique in the makeup of our brains, nerves, muscles and sinews.

Sure, Polyanna! Certainly, no one would have the gall to conduct violent experiments on the body of a dear one such as my or your mother, father, grandparent, sibling, aunt, uncle, relative or dear friend. Well, apparently you are mistaken, Polyanna. The driving force behind such cold-blooded irreverence is patent medical and military opportunism.

As I am writing this, I am still squirming about the idea that mine or the body of one dear to me might be used as land mine, canon, dynamite or plastic explosives fodder for the furtherance of military knowledge of how bodies are affected by explosive devices.

Movie technicians make such real-life dummies, mannequins and other props which completely deceive our eyes and ears. Could the Army not hire such astute technicians to produce for them dummies, mannequins or whatever to meet their exact specifications?

If there were no other effective means of achieving the Army's end of designing more explosive-resistant combat shoes, flak jackets, helmets and other body armor, our minds might possibly turn to the use of cadavers as testing agents, provided we could be assured that this grisly use would aid in avoiding serious injuries and death of our combatants.

Only this last-resort recourse would come close to satisfying the revulsion and shock of most of us; for we agree with Paul's appraisal of our bodies:

"Do you not know that you are the temple of God, and the Spirit of God dwells in you? If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy that person; for the temple of God, which you are, is holy." (1 Corinthians 3:16-17)

So, will I revoke that part of my will which donates my body to science? Do I violate God's temple if I allow my body to become fodder for explosive experiments? Am I an enabler of extreme, insensitive irreverence if I permit others to perform violent tests on my mortal remains in the name of the advancement of military science?

To say the least, the whole concept leaves a very bad taste in my mouth, as I'm sure it does in the mouths of most people who have heard of such doings. The whole practice reeks of insensitivity, brazenness, cold-bloodedness and callous disrespect.

Just when my human spirit felt it was rising to one last soaring act of nobility and altruism, I was swatted flat by the insensitive opportunism of agents of the military machine who could not care less about the sanctity of the body given us by our Creator.

And to think, I figured that I had found my survivors a final free ticket in the form of a feasible substitute for my funeral. Won't the purveyors of commerce, martial science and politics ever cut us some slack in this life, at least as we close out our last days?

Perhaps the solution is to shop around from university to university in and out of town until we find one or the other which is willing to guarantee us that they will indeed use our cadavers for the furtherance of medical knowledge and the health of human beings.

Reflections on Life

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Born Again!

Many times this writer has mention the spiritual experience called, Being Born Again.

It's reasonable to believe that some of the readers of this article; have said, just what does that mean? What does it mean to be Born Again? How do you know if you are Born Again?

In John the third chapter Nicodemus a ruler of Jews ask Jesus the same question. Later in the Gospel of John something happen to that older rabbi Nicodemus.

For he openly played a part in the burial of Jesus. He had a change in his spirit; noticeable to the other rabbis. John 19:39

Nicodemus begin to let it be known he was a Jesus believer.

Before having the spiritual birth, Jesus was a historical figure to most of us. Yes, we also knew He was the Son of God; and the church was built on Him.

When the Born again birth took place; He became real inside our being. Our character began to slowly change to being a better person. The things pertaining to God and His heavenly kingdom was now foremost of importance.

Prayer, bible reading, talking about Jesus, looking forward, attending church, everything began to open up about life.

If you want to be Born Again, as the Lord Jesus to forgive your sins and be your personal savior.

He's listening for your request!

Richer Life In Christ Ministry has Landed

On August 12, 2004, Richer Life in Christ Ministry (RLIC) held it's first Bible Study under the Pastoral ship of Otis Jones of Picayune.

God has been working overtime showing favor among his people in the city of Bay St. Louis, MS; even though none of us deserve his favor, it's because he loves us so much, he blesses us anyway (John 3:16). A Double Miracle took place within the first week of God laying the foundation for this ministry. First, on August 10, a prophesied wedding took place on the John D. Rutherford Pier, and four days later, a baptism took place under the John D. Rutherford Pier located on the beach near Old Town Bay St. Louis. On August 25, at Bible study, we experienced a quintuple Miracle; five people got SAVED, and those remaining were already SAVED. Even now approximately three months later, the Lord has saved over 100 people using the willing vessels associated with this ministry (Roman 10:9).

The Lord has blessed his people with hope by manifesting his power in the natural using prophets, prophetess, evangelist, and any willing saved person to witness & profess his promises to his people - spiritual/physical prosperity, healing, peace, unity, and most importantly the gift of salvation (Romans 6:23).

Did you ever think you would see the day, when men and women would gather at the corner of Sycamore St. & St. Frances St. holding hands with their heads bowed in prayer of repentance; And then accepting Christ as their Savior? Those that have been deceived by the devil pouring out beer and throwing crack on the ground realizing that they desire God's will for their life.

Richer Life in Christ Ministry's mission is to seek and save those, which are lost; Continually striving to build God's Kingdom (Luke 19:10). We walk by the faith, and live by the motto "Growing in the Power of the Word." We believe in the unadulterated truth, not bound by tradition, but shackled only by the Holy Word of God.

God is searching and selecting disciples, not merely members, to be a part of this ministry (Matthew 28:18-20). Those that are fully persuaded by God, therefore empowered to step out of the church building to continuously perform the task that the Lord has mandated each of us to do, which is to go abroad (i.e. the streets, corners, convalescent homes, mental institutions, prisons, and even around the crack house & whore house) and witness the gospel to lead the lost sheep to the Head Sheppard, our Savior Jesus Christ (1 Peter 2:25).

RLIC is looking forward to teaming-up with other local churches and ministries to "WIM" Bay St. Louis and the surrounding areas to Jesus Christ.

Bible Study is held every Thursday at 7p.m. at 763 Washington Street, Bay St. Louis until the Lord blesses the ministry with a building.

From Russia, With Love

During the recent act of terrorism on the school in Beslan, Russia, 6th grade students from Bay Catholic sent letters and cards of condolence to the Russian Ambassador, Mr. Yuri Ushakov. Under the direction of their teacher, Maria Crosby, many students were able to write messages (in Russian) such as "God loves you" to the Beslan families. On October 19th, the BCE students received a letter from the ambassador thanking them for the cards and letters.

Hancock School District saves taxpayers $1,078,804

The Hancock County School District sold its $14,200,000 General Obligation Refunding Bonds to Morgan Keegan & Company, Inc. effective October 28, 2004. The proceeds of the Refunding Bonds will be used to redeem the 2007-2014 outstanding maturities of the District's 1997 General Obligation Bonds on October 15, 2006. The sale of the Refunding Bonds by the District will result in a total savings to the District of $1,078,804 over the life of the Bonds, having a present value savings of over 4.68%. State law allows a public entity to refinance its outstanding debt if it will realize a present value savings of 2.0% as a result of the refinancing.

"We're happy that we were able to sell the Refunding Bonds at such low interest rates," commented David Kopf, Superintendent of the Hancock County School District. "The sale of these Refunding Bonds accomplishes our goal of managing the District's funds in a manner that will yield the greatest benefit to our students and our citizens."

"The Hancock County School District is consistently one of the top performing school districts in the state. The District boasts an A2 rating by Moody's Investor's Service on its outstanding debt. The District's A2 rating is one of the highest school district ratings in the state. The rating results in a large part from the District's financial management.

Great Books group to take hiatus

The Great Books Discussion Group is taking a break until the beginning of 2005. Sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, the group has been meeting and discussing books since March, 1990. During that time, they have read more than 345 titles from great books (Plato, Hobbes, Locke, deTocqueville), Mississippi fiction, play readings and 20 philosophical questions. The group meets every other Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Great Books Foundation was established in 1947 by University of Chicago Chancellor Robert Maynard Hutchins. Its mission is to provide people of all ages, backgrounds and walks of life with the opportunity to read, discuss and learn from outstanding works of literature.

Today, more than 20,000 adults are members of Great Books discussion groups, and nearly one million students participate in Junior Great Books groups for grades kindergarten through 12.

For more information on the group, call Jamie Elston at 467-5282.

Still sweet on 'The Simpsons' after 16 years

By Beverly Foster Seimberg
© Zap2it

In today's short-attention-span world, 16 seasons for a sitcom is like 16 human years for a dog: a very long and impressive run.

But that's where that simile stops, because "The Simpsons," which begins its 16th season Sunday, Nov. 14, on Fox, is no dog.

Hollywood's A-list would agree. Every season, the animated sitcom manages to score some impressive names to provide guest voices - some playing themselves, others doing characters.

Sunday's guests - author Thomas Pynchon and actor James Caan - fall into the former category. The cartoon Caan pays a visit to 10-year-old Bart's treehouse, which the boy, inspired by Homer's Playdude magazines from the 1970s, has turned into a swinging pad.

Pynchon turns up at a baking contest in which Marge is competing - and in which she's feeling a bit out-classed and contemplating sabotage.

Also slated to show up this season are Ray Romano as a new friend of Homer's, Kim Cattrall as an old friend of Marge's, and rapper 50 Cent.

Sports stars climb aboard for what promises to be a highlight of the show's season: the post-Super-Bowl episode on Feb. 6.

In "Homer and Ned's Hail Mary Pass," Homer is "discovered" entertaining a carnival crowd with his dancing. The NFL's Warren Sapp, the NBA's Yao Ming and LeBron James, and figure skater Michelle Kwan all hire him to choreograph their victory dances.

Then, in a ripped-from-last-year's headlines' development, Homer's hired to put together the Super Bowl halftime show.

Squeaky-clean neighbor Ned Flanders is drafted to help with this project, so there will be no "wardrobe malfunctions" this time. The public will still be outraged, however.

Unlike "Simpsons" fans, who would be only too happy to see the folks from Springfield hang around for another 16 years.

Celebrity Scoop

Jeremy Sumpter

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Ask "Clubhouse" star Jeremy Sumpter how tall he is, and you get a story of one boy's dream come true.

"I'm 6 foot," he says. But when Sumpter, now 15, did the 2001 movie "Frailty," he says, "I was nowhere near 5 foot."

Then he spent a year in Australia shooting the 2003 feature "Peter Pan." "I was 5-foot when I started filming 'Peter Pan,'" he recalls. "I was 5-8 when I finished. When I first hit 5 foot, it was like a dream come true. Then I just kept going. I kept growing. The next thing I know, I'm 5-5. I just kept getting taller and taller. The next thing I know, I'm 5-7, and I'm 5-8."

"When I was 5-8, I wanted to be taller. I could not wait to be 6 foot. Then, about a month ago, I measured myself, and I was 6-foot. I don't want to be really tall. I want to be 6-3 at the most."

As you might imagine, Sumpter's precipitous growth spurt caused production problems.

"I'm supposed to be playing a boy as Peter Pan," he says, "and Jason Isaacs, as Captain Hook, is supposed to be a man. I was almost the same height as he was. He kept telling me, 'Stop growing: put a brick on your head.'"

In "Clubhouse," which airs Saturdays on CBS, Sumpter plays Pete Young, a batboy for a fictitious baseball team, the New York Empires.

His co-stars on the show include Dean Cain ("Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman") and Christopher Lloyd ("Back to the Future").

"Dean Cain is a really cool guy to work with," Sumpter says. "I always hang out with Christopher. We basically talk about girls. Everybody gives me advice, for some reason. They think I need it, which I don't. I've probably had more girlfriends than they have."

Birthplace: Sumpter was born Feb. 5, 1989 (making him an Aquarius), in Monterey, Calif., but he grew up in Kentucky.

Family ties: Sumpter has two sisters, Jessica (a twin), and Jennifer, along with a dog named Bear. His full name is Jeremy Robert Myron Sumpter (the middle names are from his grandfathers).

School ties: 10th grade. Favorite subject: history. Least favorite: math.

Sports ties: In a nod to his northern California birthplace, Sumpter roots for the San Francisco 49ers and Giants. His favorite player is Giants slugger Barry Bonds, whom he describes as "the best ballplayer in the world - ever."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, Nov. 14 (NBC, 1:30 p.m. ET): The 55th and final running of the Southern 500, NASCAR's oldest 500-mile race, gets a going away present in the form of the penultimate and potentially deciding race in the "Chase for the Nextel Cup." Economic factors forced the demise of this one-time Labor Day weekend staple on NASCAR's itinerary. Jeff Gordon is one of many who will miss the host track, South Carolina's famed Darlington Raceway. He's won here six times, including five Southern 500s.

"NFL Football" Sunday, Nov. 14 (ESPN, 8:30 p.m. ET): The Buffalo Bills are the latest team to have a shot at redemption against the New England Patriots, who at this writing had reeled off a record-breaking 21-game winning streak. The Bills became victim No. 18 on Oct. 3 in a game that played out like so many others in the streak, with the opportunistic Pats capitalizing on a late fourth-quarter fumble by Bills quarterback Drew Bledsoe to seal the win. Tom Brady threw two TD passes for the winners.

"NBA Basketball" Thursday, Nov. 18 (TNT, 9:30 p.m. ET): Two teams with decidedly different looks get their first look at each other when the New York Knicks visit the Houston Rockets. The acquisition of 24-year-old guard Jamal Crawford was the Knicks' big offseason move in trying to become a more athletic team. He'll team with Stephon Marbury to provide most of the offense, but who'll play defense? More than half of Houston's roster is new, including Tracy McGrady, who can score from anywhere on the floor.

Drew Bledsoe leads the Buffalo Bills against his former team, the New England Patriots, Sunday on ESPN.

There's a doctor in the 'House' on Fox

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

"House," which premieres Tuesday, Nov. 16, on Fox, is an intelligent, interesting, unconventional drama. Since it's on Fox - which has a bad habit of quickly axing intelligent, interesting, unconventional dramas ("Firefly" and "Wonderfalls" leap most recently to mind) - one could hardly be blamed for being reluctant to commit emotionally.

But since this is a year where even lowly ABC could have two of the hottest new dramas on television in "Lost" and "Desperate Housewives" - and Fox renewed the low-rated but intelligent, interesting and unconventional comedy "Arrested Development" - we may be living in the TV equivalent of an age of miracles. In that spirit, giving "House" a try may not only be rewarding, but indeed an act of faith.

British actor Hugh Laurie ("Blackadder") puts on an American accent to play Dr. Gregory House, a cranky, scruffy but brilliant physician with a bad leg and an even worse bedside manner. He assumes all patients lie and is not exactly overflowing with compassion, but his instincts and diagnostic acumen win him respect - even if nobody's duking it out to invite him to lunch.

"We came to this medical-show idea," executive producer and creator David Shore ("Due South," "Hack") says, "and I just wanted to bring something fresh to it, something different. House started off as this guy I thought my doctor was after I left the room. Doctors have to be exasperated by patients. In all professions, it's like that. Jobs would be so much easier if you didn't have to deal with people."

"I thought it would be great to have a guy who said those things to the person but was right and was smart. Obviously, there's a Sherlock Holmes element to it."

House finds himself frequently at odds with the dean of medicine, hospital administrator Dr. Lisa Cuddy (Lisa Edelstein), with whom he just may have some sort of weird chemistry.

"I am not free to speculate," Laurie says. "I suppose that is a subject that will have to come up. If they're using those index cards, maybe they've got a question mark on it and it's stuffed in the bottom of a drawer."

"It certainly feels like there's something there, doesn't it?" Shore says.

In his reluctant efforts to explore medical mysteries, House has assembled a team: neurologist Dr. Eric Foreman (Omar Epps), who has a dodgy past; immunologist Dr. Allison Cameron (Jennifer Morrison), whose beauty makes House suspect her motives for choosing medicine; and well-heeled intensivist (a doctor who specializes in intensive-care patients) Dr. Robert Chase (Jesse Spencer). And though he'd be loath to admit it, House has a friend in Dr. James Wilson (Robert Sean Leonard), an oncology specialist.

While Shore may have based House on Sherlock Holmes, the Great Detective himself was based on a Scottish physician named Dr. Joseph Bell.

"He would astound his fellow doctors," Laurie says, "by the deductions he was able to make from the calluses on a man's thumb or the way the seat of his pants was worn, or whatever it was. It feels like there's been a circle."

While Dr. Bell may or may not have been kind to small children and puppies, author Arthur Conan Doyle records that Holmes most certainly was not. It's that combination of penetrating intelligence and utter irascibility that Shore and fellow executive producers Paul Attanasio, Katie Jacobs and Bryan Singer (who directed the pilot) wanted to bring to "House."

"I wanted to strip away the Marcus Welby doctor who does it to save lives, damn it," Shore says. "This is a guy who's much more complex than that. He obviously wants to save lives; he obviously wants to help people, but he's cranky. He gets his limited pleasure in life from solving mysteries of all sorts, human mysteries. Why is this person the way they are? Why is Allison the way she is? Why is Foreman the way he is? Why is this person sick?"

"He's trying to make sense of a world that doesn't make sense."

'CSI: NY' actor starred in 'Glory Days'

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q What was the name of the short-lived WB series that starred Eddie Cahill ("CSI: New York") and Poppy Montgomery ("Without a Trace")? The show tanked, but my wife and I really enjoyed it. - Pete Todd, Alliance, Ohio.

A So did a lot of us. "Glory Days," which ran for two months in 2002, was an off-beat, provocative series starring Cahill as Mike Dolan, a young writer who wrote a best-selling mystery novel loosely based on his father's "accidental" death years earlier.

Plagued by writer's block, Mike returned to Glory Island, his hometown near Seattle, where he tried to re-establish personal ties with the locals, many of whom were upset (for various reasons) by his book. Montgomery played Ellie Sparks, the local coroner and forensics expert who helped Mike and his old friend Rudy Dunlop (Jay F. Ferguson, "Evening Shade"), now the sheriff, solve eerie crimes.

Eddie Cahill

"Glory Days" had a lot of potential and deserved a chance to expand its audience. Here's hoping someone eventually releases on DVD all the episodes that were filmed.

Q What can you tell me about the actor who plays Ty Davis on "Third Watch"? - M.U., Baltimore.

A The son of Broadway performer Michel Bell ("Show Boat"), Coby Bell, 29, made his acting debut as Baby Bear in a kindergarten production of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears."

A native of Orange County, Calif., Bell's first TV role was a 1997 guest appearance on "ER," but guest roles on "Buffy the Vampire Slayer," "Playboys," "Smart Guy" and "The Parent Hood" quickly followed.

Bell made his TV series debut in the short-lived 1998-99 medical drama "L.A. Doctors" shortly before he joined "Third Watch." Since then, Bell also has appeared in a play, "Safe," directed and co-written by "Watch" castmate Anthony Rulivier.

An honors graduate of San Jose State University, Bell now lives in New York with his wife and twin daughters.

Muldoon's wrapped up for Christmas

Patrick Muldoon

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

Christmas came early for Patrick Muldoon (ex-Austin Reed, "Days of Our Lives") when his character was tied up with a bow and delivered to a cynical woman (Kelli Williams) as her yuletide present in the Hallmark Channel movie "A Boyfriend for Christmas," premiering Saturday, Nov. 27.

Partially shot on location last holiday season at Christmas Tree Lane in Pasadena, Calif., the movie was right up the actor's alley, since his family celebrates Christmas in a big way.

"My dad's side of the family is Irish, and my mom's side is Croatian, and they are both really big families," Muldoon explains. "Everybody traditionally comes over to our house, and we watch 'The Godfather.' So now it is going to be 'The Godfather' and 'A Boyfriend for Christmas.'"

The Hallmark movie marks a return to the tube for the San Pedro, Calif., native. For the past few years, he has focused his career on independent films, including "Whacked!" "Blackwoods," "Black Cat Run" and "Wicked," which was screened at the Sundance Film Festival. But then he took a year off to work on his own one-man show, a musical called "1434."

"I got a call from Larry Moss, an acting coach in L.A., who took a group of us to Switzerland," Muldoon says. "He slapped us upside the head and said, 'Remember why you wanted to be an actor?'"

"So I took a year off to get reacquainted, because you lose yourself going from job to job to job."

In casting news, "Passions" will be adding Daphnee Duplaix ("The Fighting Temptations") in the role of Valerie Davis, a "gorgeous, smart executive assistant at Crane Industries who has more on her mind than the latest stock options. Her new boss Chad Harris," says series creator James E. Reilly. Duplaix's first day is Dec. 16.

Dear Paulette: The actor playing Kevin's mother on "The Young and the Restless": What miniseries did she play in? Thank you. -Lee A., Westerly, R.I.

Dear Reader: Joan Van Ark plays Gloria, Kevin's mother. Van Ark is best known for her run as Valene Ewing on the very popular "Knots Landing."

Movie: Back to the Future Part II

This 1989 effort does have its merits, especially in its creative use of footage from the original 1985 "Back to the Future" film, and the familiar face of star Michael J. Fox. The plot brings Fox's character, Marty, into the early 21st century. Christopher Lloyd and Lea Thompson ("Caroline in the City") also reprise their roles from the first film.

How the Grinch Stole Christmas

Since its first airing on CBS in 1966, this adaptation of the Dr. Seuss children's book has evolved into an annual holiday viewing tradition. Legendary animator Chuck Jones directed this story about a green-skinned grouch who sets out to spoil Christmas for the citizens of Whoville. Boris Karloff provides narration, with additional voices by Thurl Ravenscroft and June Foray.

Movie: Antz

This animated adventure from 1998 has a myriad of famous voices, and impressive computer imagery to tell the stories of the trials and tribulations of what else — ants. Tuesday Best Bets

Queen Latifah

7 p.m. on 6-NBC The Biggest Loser

This is not your father's 20-minute workout. This new episode takes 90 minutes to follow the contestants on what may be their most grueling exercise session yet: climbing to the top of a 74-story building. And they thought "scale" was a noun. Caroline Rhea hosts.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN 2004 Vibe Awards

Usher may need to rent a tractor-trailer to cart all his awards home. He leads the list of nominees at both Sunday's American Music Awards, with four nominations, and tonight's Vibe Awards, where he's up for five honors including artist of the year. Alicia Keys is close on his heels with four nominations that also include artist of the year. Queen Latifah is executive producer of the Vibe, which honor the best in urban music.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX House

Hugh Laurie ("Sense and Sensibility," "Stuart Little") plays the title character in this new medical mystery drama, a sort of "CSI" meets "Becker." Dr. Gregory House is an abrasive physician who stops at nothing to diagnose and treat those sticky cases that have other doctors stumped. Omar Epps, Jennifer Morrison and Jesse Spencer play House's trusty assistants. Lisa Edelstein and Robert Sean Leonard also star in the "Pilot."

8 p.m. on 4-CBS The Amazing Race 6

On your marks, get set, go! The amazing ratings powerhouse of the summer is back in this two-hour premiere with a new field of contestants, new destinations, and new challenges. The format remains the same: Eleven teams, each made up of two people who already know each other, vie to be the first to complete a round-the-world journey, none of them knowing where they'll go, next or what they must do once they arrive. Phil Keoghan hosts.

8:30 p.m. on 6-NBC Scrubs

J.D. (Zach Braff) tries to make some waves in his relationship with Neena (guest star Julianna Margulies), who continues to treat him and everyone else with icy disdain. The court battle continues over the shoulder surgery that Turk (Donald Faison) performed on Mr. Korman (guest star Richard Kind), who claims his tennis serve has been ruined. John C. McGinley also stars in the new episode "My Female Trouble."

9 p.m. on 6-NBC Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

In the new episode "Charisma," Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) meet a 12-year-old expectant mother (guest star Holliston Coleman) whose pregnancy has developed complications. The girl is married to the child's father (guest star Jeff Kober), who turns out to be the leader of a cult with some scary secrets.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC
Joey
Joey (Matt LeBlanc) is still kicking himself for saying no to a part on a hit series. And the fact that Michael, Alex and Gina (Paulo Costanzo, Andrea Anders, Drea de Matteo) are not only watching it but having a viewing party doesn't help his mood any. He pays a visit to his agent (Jennifer Coolidge) to get his career moving again in "Joey and the Big Audition."

7:30 p.m. on 6-NBC
Will & Grace
Rip Taylor guest stars as himself in the new episode "Saving Grace Again, Part II." Jack and Karen (Sean Hayes, Megan Mullally) bail out early from a road trip that Will (Eric McCormack) has organized to get Grace's (Debra Messing) mind off Leo. Jack offers a gig on "Out TV" to a hunky actor (guest star Victor Garber, "Alias").

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
North Shore
In the new episode "The Big One," Jason and Tessa (Kristoffer Polaha, Amanda Fighetti) attend a charity event on the hotel's behalf. But neither comes alone, leading to a goodwill ambassador. M.J. (Nikki Deloach) seeks to smooth things over with Chris (Jay Kenneth Johnson). Visions of dollar signs surf through Gabriel's (Corey Sevier).

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC
ER
In the new episode "White Guy, Dark Hair," Sam and Kovac (Linda Cardellini, Goran Visnjic) treat a rape victim who has been beaten so badly she can hardly talk. A case of kidney trouble turns complicated for Carter and Abby (Noah Wyle, Maura Tierney).

9 p.m. on 4-CBS
Without a Trace
Tony Goldwyn reprises the roles of being Rick and Greg Knowles in this new episode. Fans of the series will remember Rick as the man who got his twin brother to confess to killing several homeless women. When a woman disappears from a shelter with a connection to that case, Jack (Anthony LaPaglia) suspects that Rick may be up to his old tricks.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Cops

The new, hour-long episode "Las Vegas Metro '04" offers a change from the show's usual pursue-the-perp format. It follows Sin City's finest through the investigation of a single crime — a homicide — from the scene all the way to court, a la "Law & Order." But those who like the show's regular fare won't be disappointed; there's also a high-speed chase and a confrontation with a drunken jaywalker who gives new meaning to the term "packing."

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

The Girardis undergo depositions in connection with the lawsuit over the car accident that left Kevin (Jason Ritter) disabled. As each member relates his or her version of events, flashbacks show that every-one remembers the day quite differently. Amber Tamblyn, Joe Mantegna and Mary Steenburgen star in the new episode "No Future."

7 p.m. on TBS

Movie: The Wizard of Oz

The basic-cable home of "Sex and the City" shows it hasn't forgotten its younger viewers, with a weekend of kid-friendly fare anchored by this 1939 fantasy classic. Judy Garland stars as the farm girl who defies a wicked witch to obtain a brain, a heart and courage for her friends (Ray Bolger, Jack Haley, Bert Lahr) and a trip home for herself. For those who miss it tonight, the flying farmhouse departs for Oz again Saturday and Sunday.

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Claudia (Megyn Price) thinks pregnancy has taken away her sex appeal until her study partner (guest star Trent Ford) starts flirting with her. Imagine her dis- appointment when she discovers he's been paid to flatter her. Another comic steals the gags that Lily (Lynsey Bartilson) helped Eddie (Kevin Fitzgerald Corrigan) write. Bret Harrison also stars in the new episode "Do Ya Think I'm Sexy."

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Nick Lachey guest stars as a hunk who turns Faith's (Kelly Ripa) head in the new episode "Just in Time." The handsome dude happens to be a dad, so Faith decides to pass her nephew, Justin (Paulie Litt), off as her son in hopes that'll help her connect with him. Faith Ford and Ted McGinley also star.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

Can you say "ripped from the headlines"? In the new episode "Camp Delta," Harm and Mac (David James Elliott, Catherine Bell) are called to the prison camp at Guantanamo Bay, where suspected al-Qaida terrorists are held, and where three MPs are about to be tried for abusing a detainee.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

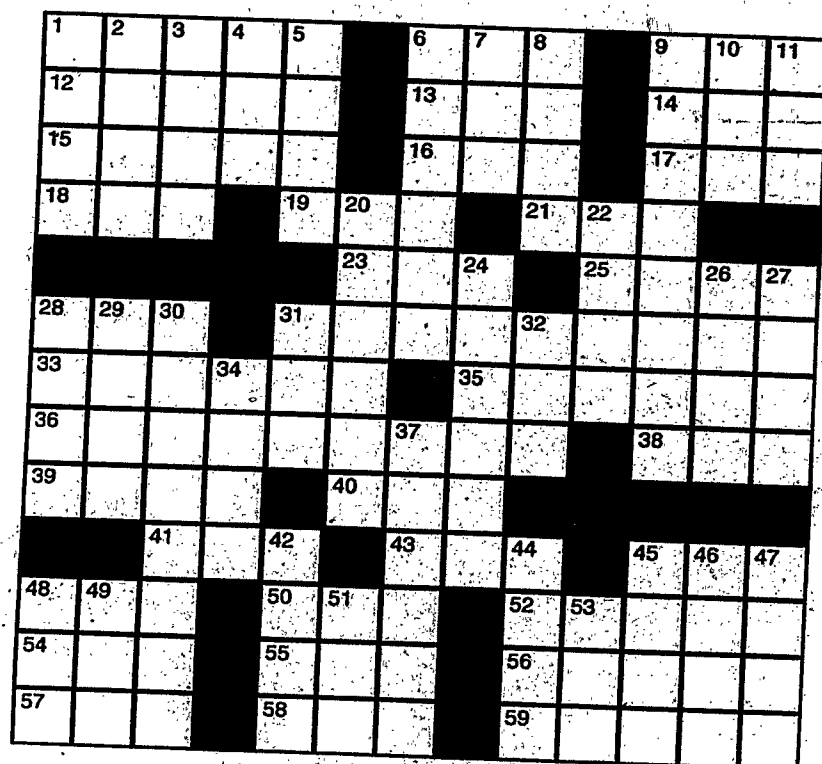

In the new episode "Thanksgiving," Reba and Barbra Jean (Reba McEntire, Melissa Peterman) are at odds over Turkey-Day hosting duties. Finally, they agree to have the dinner at Reba's and share the cooking. The meal could have an uninvited guest, however: one large, green-eyed monster, as Barbra Jean still feels hurt over the amount of attention the family pays Reba.

In Focus

If it seems a bit soon to start this edition of the unscheduled show - the previous one ended barely two months ago - consider that "The Amazing Race 5" was last summer's top-rated reality show. It also just won its second consecutive Emmy Award, so here's to striking while the iron is hot.

He doesn't try to make it easy on himself by staying out of camera range, though: Hal is prominent in the story, becoming the leader of a group of bodybuilders. Back on the home front, Malcolm and Reese (Frankie Muniz, Justin Berfield) pay a big price for fibbing to their mother, Lois (Jane Kaczmarek).

Saturday Best Bets

3 p.m. on 6-NBC

Triathlon
Reality TV fans might recognize one competitor among the 1,728 in the Ironman Triathlon World Championship, taped in mid-October in Kailua-Kona, Hawaii. He's former "Bachelorette" star Ryan Sutter, a Colorado fireman who raced on behalf of a charity that helps families of fallen firefighters. Back to defend their titles were Canadians Peter Reid (a three-time champion) and Lori Bowden, who's won twice.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: Erin Brockovich
Julia Roberts earned some of the best reviews of her career, an Oscar, and a Golden Globe Award for director Steven Soderbergh's 2000 drama. It's the true story of a law clerk who fights for people affected by a company's pollution of their water supply. Albert Finney plays the tired attorney whom Brockovich inspires to take up the battle. Aaron Eckhart and Marg Helgenberg are also featured.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: For a Few Dollars More
Clint Eastwood again dons the poncho that made him an international superstar in this 1965 sequel to "A Fistful of Dollars," the Italian-made Western that was his launching pad to worldwide fame. Returning as the silent but lethal Man With No Name, he partners with a rival gunslinger (Lee Van Cleef) to hunt a common enemy, a drug-addict bandit (Gian Maria Volonte).

7 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Stepmom

Susan Sarandon and Julia Roberts, who co-produced the film, do fine work as rivals in director Chris Columbus' 1998 drama. Roberts plays Isabel, the girlfriend of Jacqueline's (Sarandon) ex-husband (Ed Harris), and the two women end up contending for the affections of his children. Young Jena Malone lends excellent support.

8 p.m. on HALL

Movie: Love's Enduring Promise
Dale Midkiff and Katherine Heigl return as pioneer couple Clark and Marty Davis in this sequel to last year's "Love Comes Softly," based on a series of best-selling books by Janette Oke. When an accident leaves Clark unable to work the farm, help arrives in the form of a handsome newcomer (Logan Bartholomew) with a secret and an eye for the Clark's eldest daughter (January Jones). Mackenzie Astin also stars.
